

IKS Hires Dr. Par Bolina as Chief Medical Informatics Officer (CMIO)

August 7, 2013

New York, NY. August 7, 2013: IKS is pleased to announce that it has named Dr. Par Bolina as Chief Medical Informatics Officer (CMIO) and he will be based in Nashville, TN. In this new assignment, he will be responsible for designing, building, growing and managing the clinical division for IKS that provides solutions to help physician groups and ambulatory groups redefine their business in line with the demands of current and future healthcare reform.

Par is an expert in the design and delivery of cost-effective, high-performance informatics solutions in support of rapid growth of ambulatory practices. He is highly skilled in all phases of the project life cycle, from initial feasibility analysis and conceptual design to implementation and enhancement. Not only is he effective at building culturally diverse, team-centered operating units, with excellent clinical, business-process, and strategy development skills but also a customer-centric approach with the ability to initiate profitable alliances with vendors and suppliers. He brings with him a wealth of experience having worked across the spectrum of healthcare. His areas of expertise include optimizing ambulatory EHR performance, standardizing clinical workflow, achieving meaningful use, integrating inpatient with outpatient EHRs via Health Information Exchange, evaluating and implementing emerging technologies, business analytical applications and enterprise architectures.

In his last position, he served as the Chief Medical Informatics Officer at Saint Thomas Physician Services (STPS), prior to which he served in diverse roles for 12 years at Nashville Medical Group (NMG). Par completed his Internal Medicine Internship & Residency from Tufts University at Springfield, Massachusetts. He has a Doctor of Medicine from the University of Illinois at Chicago and a Bachelor of Science from the University of Illinois at Urbana. He is an esteemed member of the American Medical Informatics Association (AMIA), Healthcare Information Management Systems Society (HIMSS) and American Medical Group Association (AMGA).
