

Casamba, the Premier EMR for Multiplatform Therapy Solutions, Announces a Strategic Partnership with IKS Health for Revenue Cycle Management

Agoura Hills, CA, October 17, 2018 -- Casamba, the leading provider of technology software solutions for post-acute care, announced it has partnered with IKS Health, a premier supplier of service-enabled solutions for large medical enterprises, to provide end-to-end revenue cycle management for providers across the post-acute continuum.

Through this combination of technology and services, post-acute therapy providers now have a single, integrated solution to support efficiencies in the clinic, compliance with regulatory requirements, streamlined and predictive documentation, advanced interoperability with the most innovative companies in the market, and an improved patient experience, all while improving financial performance and decreasing costs. Casamba Revenue, powered by IKS Health, provides infinite scalability to support our customers through an ever-changing therapy industry. Casamba's innovative technology and IKS's experienced service solutions empower organizations to make informed decisions and scale efficiently, while helping generate, capture, collect, and protect revenue in preparation for growth.

"Our mission is to maximize the business and clinical potential of post-acute and therapy providers across the continuum of care through innovative software solutions, analytics and world class service," says Ronnie Amrany, Founder and Chief Executive Officer of Casamba. "We know that IKS will enable our clients to improve their collections, scale their business, strengthen their bottom line, and allow them to remain pillars in the healthcare space."

"The first client when IKS opened our doors more than a decade ago was a multi-state physical therapy group that has remained our client these many years and become the leading provider of physical therapy in the United States today," says Joe Benardello, co-founder and Chief Strategy and Marketing Officer for IKS Health. "We've come to know the amazing compassion and drive of PT providers, and understand the opportunities in their business that will allow them to remain successful in such a competitive landscape. In Casamba, we see a willing and driven technology partner that will not only provide the infrastructure for an organization today but to address their strategy and growth in the years ahead."
